Over-Played News Is Harmful

OUR city's newspapers, and doubtless others, enjoyed quite a field day early last week at the expense of San Francisco State College. Because of the actions of one or two persons, this institution was placed in an unfavorable light.

It is feasible that in any society there will exist one or two people who will act against the best interests of that group. This is especially true of a heterogeneous society such as the student body and personnel of a college.

Recognizing this, then, we are not attempting to excuse the actions of those persons involved in the "scandal," but rather we accept that responsibility, as properly we must. It is simply a situation where the actions of one student reflect upon the entire student body.

However, we are taking issue with the manner in which some of the presses "played up" the incidents. One local paper, as an example, treated the story to wit: "Arrests bare San Francisco College dope parties . . . The district attorney outlined a sordid story of traffic in drugs, spreading even among students of San Francisco State College."

A person unfamiliar with the situation at this college might well suspect that this is a breeding ground of derelects and dope fiends, albeit we who know and respect our college would consider the suspicion ridiculous.

Unfortunately, it has become too common a practice with our democratic presses to play up crime, sex and the like. In ethical circles, this is known as "yellow journalism," and we who follow the journalistic profession do not at the moment feel very proud of that fact.

Male Chorus Needs Voices

Men's Glee Club members at State are planning to do at least one concert this semester, but they will be unable to go through with these plans unless they get more male voices. Mr. Harold Hollingsworth, assistant professor of music and conductor of the group, said today. The Glee Club at present consists of 26 men. It needs at least 60 voices to produce a good choir. No experience is needed, nor is a good voice required; the club will develop it for you.

At present the club has three top tenors, three second tenors, twelve baritones and eight basses. More voices in any of these categories are urgently needed.

The group is strictly informal and members can choose the music they want to present. "It is a lot of fun and you will really enjoy yourself if you come out," states Ralph Pynchon, a Glee Club member, who would like others to join and find out for themselves.

Those interested who would like to help present a good male voice program should contact Mr. Hollingsworth in Mezzanine 3, Music Annex.

Noon Dances in Gym Tuesdays

Hold everything! The Golden Gater regrettably reports that it missed the boat concerning the new series of free noontime dances.

It seems that the first two dances have already been held, and without advance publicity, fan-fare or usual build-up.

These dances are given every Tuesday, 1 to 2 p.m., in the Women's Gym. Music is by recordings donated by MGM records. Different sponsors arrange the affair each week.

Student organizations that wish to act as sponsors are asked to contact Jim Schwerdt, activities commissioner, in the Student Body office, Hut 4-A.

Meet Deadlines Today Or Pay $1 Fine: Vance

There will be a fee of $1 for a change of classes after today, and all petitions for changes of program must be submitted to the Deans' Committee through the Registrar's office.

Any student planning to complete the requirements for a degree or credential in January must submit applications not later than today, Miss Florence Vance, Registrar, announced.

Victory Dance Set For Tonight

Golden Gater

SAN FRANCISCO STATE COLLEGE

Vol. 50, No. 3

San Francisco, California

Friday, Sept. 30, 1949

OFF TO SILENCE THE QUAKERS

Function Climaxes Grand Revival of Soph-Frosh Day

A Victory Dance tonight at 9 in the Women's Gym, sponsored by Delta Gamma Tau, service fraternity, will cap today's grand revival of Soph-Frosh Day.

Feature of the dance will be the presentation of the Victory Plaque to the class coming out on top in today's interclass competition.

The dance is to be an annual affair as the culmination of the Soph-Frosh Day festivities, according to Roy Ciappini, fraternity president.

Bob Greenwood and his orchestra will provide the music for the dancing. Cokes will be purveyed for between-dance refreshment.

On the floor committee will be Josef Finnigan, "Rocky" Jordan, Tim Haggerty, Tom Carey and Wally Stasek.

The dust that hovers over the upper playing field today between 12 and 1 will tend to obscure, but not completely, the titanic struggle between the freshmen and the sophomores as they fight for top honors.

The celebration, an annual event before the war, is expected to bring out the best in spirit and courage on the part of both teams as they pull on ropes, jump into sacks, and go into other dangerous types of picnic shenanigans.

Everybody, spectators and freshmen and sophomore participants, are cordially invited to attend. It is requested that freshmen camouflage their craniums with dink caps and support their teams to the utmost.

Big Grid Fete Next Week

A super double bill is promised for Staters next Friday evening.

1. Sigma Pi Sigma's annual Kick-Off Dance, with name band Howard Frederic supplying the music, and . . .

2. Opening football game of the home season with Southern Oregon pitted against the Gaters at Cox Stadium.

Game time is 8 p.m. at the Gater home field and a record turnout is expected to see a contest that observers feel will decide the championship of the Far Western Conference.

Immediately after the football game, attention will be shifted to the Women's Gym where, under gala decorations, the crowd will dance to Frederick's popular orchestra.

President Tom Collins of Sigma Pi Sigma stated that tickets for the Kick-Off Dance will go on sale Monday.

"We are very pleased to be able to feature one of the top Bay Area bands," Collins said. "In addition to the orchestra, a vocalist and quartet will do specialty numbers."

The gym will be specially decorated for the occasion with subdued lighting plus streamers and cut-outs stressing the football theme.

Dance chairman is Vice-President Roger Fanfelle. Other committee heads are: Ted Abbott and Jack Clark, decorations; Dick Jaensch, refreshments; and Joe Heath and Gil Dean, publicity and tickets.

Frosh Picnic Lures 'Em In

It was swing and sway the phonograph way at the Freshman picnic last night. Kappa Theta did the sponsoring, with Sigmund Stern Grove the scene of activities.

According to Dot Quinn, president of the Kappa Theta Sorority, more than 150 students participated in the gala affair, which included dancing, meeting student officers and getting acquainted with fellow students.

Delta Gamma Tau, men's service fraternity, aided in the organization and service of the affair.

Assembly Set For Monday

The first college assembly of the Fall semester is scheduled for next Monday at 2 p.m. in the Baptist Church.

At that time President J. Paul Leonard will discuss the progress on the new buildings now under construction at the new campus, the Master's Degree program, the School of World Business and other action taken by the college.

All students are invited to attend.

NEW FACES

Faculty Climbs To 220 Figure

An imposing total of 220 faculty members has been realized this week with the addition of 12 new part-time teachers. President J. Paul Leonard stated early this week.

Since the beginning of the Fall semester, 40 teachers have been added to the roll. President Leonard also disclosed that $3000 have been added to this year's budget to cover operating expenses.

In addition to the new faculty members, three administrative and three instructor clerks have also been hired.

School of World Business: William V. Hall, Manager Ocean Marine Department, North American Companies; Lawrence Coveney, Otis McAllister & Company; M. E. Cremer, Marine Exchange of San Francisco Chamber of Commerce; Stuart Walsh, Industrial Survey Association.

Education: William Jordan. Creative Arts: Frank S. Houser, Music Department; John Magnani, Ceramics; Marjorie Livingston, Weaving; Cesare S. Claudio, Music Department; Forrester Mashbir, Radio Department.

Stop Smoking at Burk

The smoking lamp is out now and forever on the second floor of Frederic Burk School, announced Maynard Linn, principal.

State students are asked to observe this "no smoking" rule.

New Ruling For Veterans May Affect Programing

A recent Veterans Administration regulation limiting education and training will not affect many veterans who have already made preparation for the Fall semester.

However, a new regulation—based on Public Laws 862, 80th Congress, and 266, 81st Congress—states that veterans who want to take certain courses must show VA that:

(1) The course is essential to employment, if the veteran already had completed or interrupted a previous GI Bill course.

(2) The course will serve a bona fide use in present or future business or employment.

The new regulation went into effect in mid September.

This does not apply to vets who have completed plans for Fall semesters if they have (1) submitted original applications for Certificate of Eligibility before September 12, 1949, and (2) commenced their course before November 1 of this year.

Emphasis is placed on prohibiting veterans from taking courses under the GI Bill for vocational or recreational courses.

Even though veterans meet the

FOLK MUSIC APPRECIATION CLUB TO BE FORMED

Folk music enthusiasts attention! Any students interested in forming a folk music appreciation and discussion group, contact Dave Rothkop, P.O. Box 1035. The group will meet on campus and at the homes of the individual members, play records and will hold some discussions, solely confined to folk music.

Please leave names and places where you may be reached.

PUBLICATIONS

Five Additions Named to Staff

Five new appointments to the Golden Gater staff were announced by the Board of Publications last week. Fred Hodel was appointed exchange editor; Ralph Lewis, circulation manager; Dale Perkins, staff artist; Gene Bennett, staff photographer; and Gerald Bowkett, staff librarian.

Positions still open on the business staff are: Business manager, assistant business manager, and publicity manager. Inklings is in need of a make-up editor and two assistant editors. Petitions are now being accepted for Franciscan editors. These positions are: Photography editor, assistant photography editor, senior editor, sports editor, organization editor, candid campus editor, class editor, administration editor and project editor.

A new position of editorial assistant has been created for freshmen students who wish to become active in publications.

All petitions should be submitted by noon Monday to Miss Phiz Mezey, faculty advisor, or Barbara Roberts, student director of publications.

Symphony Tickets on Sale

Seasonal tickets to the San Francisco Symphony will go on sale October 11 in Music Alley, according to Hal Graubart, music major, who will handle the ducats.

These tickets will sell for half price to registered State students.

President Leonard Confers With Students About New Campus

"This is going to be a tough year for everyone, student and faculty alike," said Dr. J. Paul Leonard, president of San Francisco State College, in his initial address before the student Board of Directors.

Labeling the overcrowded conditions and the prospect of facing a split campus within the next two years as the major problems of the college, Dr. Leonard stated a few pertinent facts:

This term State has the largest enrollment in its history. With approximately 3670 full-time students and 1000 part-time students, final enrollment is expected to exceed 4750.

Some of the effects of this tremendous increase have necessitated certain changes, mainly the addition of 25 new members to the faculty and conversion of the Reserve Book Room into a faculty office.

"To my knowledge," said Dr. Leonard, "there is not an empty classroom on the campus between the hours of 8 and 5."

Proceeding to the latest news of developments at the new campus, President Leonard stated that plans are moving ahead rapidly with construction of the physical education unit, scheduled to be completed before September of next year.

Bids for the Science Building probably will be let within the next 30 days, and construction should begin on or about December 1 of this year, Dr. Leonard added.

"The $7,000,000 appropriated by the Legislature will be enough to start construction on all the buildings, but will not be enough to complete any one building."

President Leonard suggested that a committee be organized to work with him on the problem the college will be facing with a split campus.

Some of the problems he outlined are:

1. How fast shall we utilize the new campus buildings? Should we move the Physical Education Department entirely or should we split it in half?

2. While the college is in the transitory stage, what classes should be conducted on the new campus? Should we move upper division classes to the new campus and keep lower division classes on Buchanan Street?

3. School transportation facilities, even with the addition of a new Mack 50-passenger bus, can only move 80 students per hour. How will students be transported to and from classes?

4. Finally, what about the problem of a dual administration? All facilities at the old campus would have to be duplicated, for the most part, on the new campus. President Leonard pointed out that telephone service alone under such a setup would run upwards of $6000 a year.

In answer to queries about Student Activities Building, Dr. Leonard said that while it is not included in present plans, hope is not yet lost. He emphasized the need for student recreation facilities but pointed out that on such a question the State Legislature has the final say.

ESPERANTO MEANS 'HOPE'

The public prints last week were circulating stories to the effect that Russia was conducting atomic explosions in her back yard—inexplicably without knowledge or approval from the rest of the world.

The news succeeded in creating such a disturbance in diplomatic circles, that a critic saw fit to go on record as predicting that "civilization is about to go down the drain in an atomic bloodbath."

Pessimistic as this viewpoint may seem, there are more than a few, among world experts, who place stock in the theory than instead of world peace we are headed in the opposite direction. Hatred and fear, the offspring of suspicion, have gained such a stronghold in our philosophy that it is with alarm we ponder just how warm the cold war can become.

It makes one muse too if perhaps other world experts are not correct in advocating that a world peace can be realized only through a one-world state, a world government with inexorable jurisdiction over the nations of the world.

The United Nations Council, once the hope of peace-loving idealists, might have been the one to engender such a world government, but, unfortunately, because of international misunderstandings, it never was able to reach its potential. These misunderstandings, as we see them, are not merely caused by a difference in ideologies, but also by a difference in semantics: when it came time to talk peace, NOBODY spoke the same language. We mean literally.

Thus in the midst of this atomic belligerence, it comes as a timely and important event to us that Esperanto, the universal language, will be taught here at State College. Designed to promote better understanding among people, Esperanto appropriately takes its roots from the Latin meaning HOPE.

We are not advocating that Esperanto is the magic answer to world peace, but we do think it is an important step toward that end. It takes no great imagination to conceive how much more efficiently a council of diplomats could operate if they had in common the faculty of speech, which seems to be the only virtue that makes us apart from the animal.

Yes, we think Esperanto is an important step toward world peace. We thought you would like to know that State College is also in step.—R. S.

FILE THIRTEEN

A. ALLAN MARTINEZ, Jr.

This isn't a sports column, and I hate to steal Monsieur Galo's stuff, but what'da you say we give a plug to the football team? Tomorrow they play their first game of the season. It's going to be a tough game, and it's going to tell whether or not the team has shaken that jinx which has clung determinedly. We all can't go to Whittier to watch them. But we can give 'em a pat on the back that means so much to a guy sweating it out on a dusty field...

CO-OPERating... THE MEN THAT SWAB THE TABLES AND DUST THE CORNERS IN THE CO-OP MAY BE STRAIGHT "A" STUDENTS, BUT 10 TO ONE SAYS THEY'D FLUNK A COURSE IN ELEMENTARY COURTESY. OR HAVEN'T YOU HAD YOUR HALF-FINISHED CUP OF COFFEE TAKEN AWAY OR A WET RAG SPLATTERED ALL OVER THE TABLE AT WHICH YOU WERE SITTING WHEN SUSPECTING SUCH FOOLERY LESS???

STICK AROUND DEPT.—Nickie Cornish, petite live-wire on campus, perspired as she sat through a lecture in Frederic Burk on one of SF's particularly hot days. At the end of the period she started to rise—and couldn't. She tried again, frustrated. HER BLOUSE HAD BEEN VULCANIZED TO THE BACK OF THE CHAIR... Wot a heat wave!

Ferdinand J. Castillo, former manager of State's swimming team and a post graduate here, will attempt to swim two miles in the choppy waters of the bay October 16. His watery trek will begin at Pier 7 in S. F. and terminate at Treasure Island. The feat will be done to stir some publicity for a toy animal bank invention of his which he's trying to push. The most Castillo has ever swam has been one-half mile. He has already obtained permission from T. I. officials and is awaiting final word from the Navy. Samuel's Jewelers has offered him a trophy if he can accomplish the swim through the surging tides. "I used to dream of doing it during the 1939 world's fair," he says. "Now I'm pretty sure I can." And we think you can too, fella. Good luck...

SIGNS, SCENES & CELEBRITIES... A Foster-Kleiser sign, among other things, gives evidence that construction is going on at the Lake Merced Campus. On the sign is a little man pointing to the building site with letters which read something to the effect that this is the new home of SFSC. Down in the right-hand corner in red letters is a name: by-line Dale Perkins...

FLUNKING AROUND... Alpha Phi Gamma's "flunk insurance" didn't do so well financially, but it caused quite a sensation in publicity. The innovation took in a grand total of $6. The S.F. News, the Examiner and the American Broadcasting Company hailed it as "different at least." So Hy Bik, the wonder boy of A.P.G. and sponsor of the insurance, scores again!

HATS OFF—Orchids to the middle-age gent who walks around the campus with a dink on in true frosh fashion. Too bad some of that there spirit couldn't be drummed up in those fresh-outta-high-schoolers, huh?

Physical Follies

By RAOUL G. SOSA, Jr.

They sends me one o' them cards which says as to how they want me to come down to the gym and strip on account of my old physical examination has relapsed and I gotta have another one.

So I'm down at the Men's Training Quarters and I'm shivering like a guy with St. Vitus on account of I ain't got any clothes on and neither has a whole bunch o' guys which are all lined up like a Conga line in a nudist camp.

I'm goin' through the line now, and there's a guy in a white coat standing with some instruments 'round his neck. Guy must be nuts on account of all he does is hit the chest and yells out "Okay," and then he puts some instrument next to the guy's chest like he was making some phone call.

ONCE AROUND

Goin' through the line some more now, and there's another one o' them fellers dressed up like a bus-boy and he's playing games with the fellers. Guy's got a little hammer and he's hitting the fellers right on the knee caps. Says he's taking reflexes.

They're measuring my height now, and they're taking my weight, and some guy's making a crack, asking "where's the rest o' me" on account of I'm six-two and weigh only 100. It's all I can do to keep from letting the guy have it—on account of he's also six-two, but he weighs close to a ton.

I'm half-through now and things are gettin' weird, on account of in the next room there's a bunch o' fellers standin' 'round with their mouths open, like maybe they's just seen a ghost. Guess maybe it's some kinda choir, on account of they's all yelling "Ah!" like maybe they wanna get in tune.

WHO'S NUTS?

Never saw so many goofy bus-boys. There's one now who's got a bunch o' sticks in his hand and he's pokin' them in the guys' mouths, like maybe he's checking for utensils.

I'm skipping the next room now, on account of everybody in there's got a cold. They's all coughing like mad, and one o' the bus-boys has 'em pinned against the wall. Never saw such ill treatment.

I'm all through with the exam now and I'm legging it home. But, geez, I'm a nervous wreck on account of I gotta scam back. Yeah, I forgot my trousers...

John Gray Returns After One Year

"It's great to be back!" And with those words we introduce Mr. John D. Gray, administrator of student affairs and State graduate of June, 1948.

With the resignation of C. A. Roumasset at the end of the Spring semester, the job of administrator was left wide open. During the summer Hank Marscheck, last term's treasurer of the Associated Students, stepped in and handled it with the skill of a master.

The position was then thrown open for applicants. Along came Mr. Gray...

ENTERED STATE IN '41

Mr. Gray entered this college in 1941 as an accounting major. He left it for some three years when the draft threw a curve at more than one person's college education.

But the 26-year-old veteran came back to get his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1948.

As a student, Gray had nothing to do with the student body business office. Had anyone told him that he would be working in it he would have told the fellow to take a one-way trip to nowhere.

BACK AGAIN

Events do take place, however, and such was the fate that brought him back here. Aside from handling the business affairs of the Associated Students, the amiable grad teaches Math 10.

"This job came as a complete surprise," he reflected thoughtfully. "Hank (Marscheck) did a wonderful job of straightening out the books during his temporary term in this position."

"Good to be back? You can't spend years here and ever leave it for good. It's great to be back!"

A Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor: What price John Q. Public loyalty? What price would create enough incentive toward the protection of a democratic state such as we citizens realize it? Would $10 a head give enough incentive for an American, as an American, to create the commercial feeling of loyalty?

Picture the following setting: It is annual registration day in every city, town and community in the United States. Government representatives are handing out $10 bills torn in half to all the registrants. They are telling the registrants that the government will give them the other half the day that they, the voters, go to the polls.

It is an interesting setting. How does it affect your palate? The obvious question—What is the method of attaining American principles? Is the dollar the solution to the public's community interest? Is the dollar sign Americanism?

What would be your price to go to the polls? A Communist pays with dictatorship—what do you pay?—Joe Heath, P.O. 1197.

(Dave Rothkop is an enterprising freshman who has taken journalistic enthusiasm in hand and gone out to bring back a series of interviews with various other freshmen. Here goes.—Ed.)

With the hectic freshman registration of Sept. 16 and 17 over, a new group of low frosh became Gaters—but the class of '53 is no ordinary conglomeration.

Judge for yourself...

Shirley Anderson is Oakland High's lovely 5 foot 5 inch, blue-eyed contribution to our alma-mummy. She was a pretty important figure around Oakland High, being president of the Acoma Council and the Regioe Grade Club, vice-president of the Dramatic and Girls' Athletic Societies, and secretary of the Girls' League.

We guess these posts would keep any one on the go 23 hours a day but not Shirley—she plays the piano to boot, and hopes to teach it some day.

Jest a Moment...

Lord, But I'm Tired

ABUSE: Deputy Robert Browning of Spokane reported a distraught woman calling at night asking that her spouse be locked up "because he beat me up." "First time?" asked the deputy. "Oh, no," she replied. "He's been beating me up for seven years."

TCH! TCH! TCH!: Seventy-two year old Harry Zeidman's chest-length whiskers were, police charged, the depository for lottery slips. The slips were found in Harry's flowing white beard when he was arrested. He was held on charges of setting up and promoting a lottery.

PULLS A BRODIE: All Brooklyn is humming over the painter who fell from their illustrious bridge to the watery depths and is walking around today to tell about it. After being pulled from certain death by a near-by fishing boat, his first remark was, "Watch that first step, it's a lulu."

SIMILE: "As fresh as the new campus."

Roos knows the campus!

Take the case of Herbert MacTavish...

Mr. MacTavish is the chesty lad to the right. As you can clearly see, he radiates pride, well-being and what we call clothes confidence. (And thanks, Mac, you can get down now). You see, MacTavish, like many a college freshman, is a Roos man... and a Roos man from head to toe. (U.K., Mac, we'll take it from here). That means that when it comes to campus clothes Mac is right...(will you kindly pull in that chest and get down, son?)...and the reason lies in the Roos know-how, in many a year's experience of what college men want and need. (STILL there, Mac?). So, if you're new to college and have any clothing problems, why don't you see Roos Bros? You'll find something for every budget, even if your name's MacTavish...and Mac, will you PLEASE get down!

Although MacTavish bears plenty of similarity to plenty of smart people, in this case his name is quite fictional.

SPORTS REVIEW

By FRANK GALO, Sports Editor

State Soccermen Prance Happily in Foggy Workout; Three Scribes, Cartoonist Joint Gater Sport Staff

In keeping with our policy of seeing what goes in State's so-called minor sports, we went out to the new campus to feast our eyes on the soccer team. This cruel journey into Fogland was insisted upon by Team Manager John Kjol.

On the way over, we couldn't help stopping by and watching State's football aggregation prepping for tomorrow night's opener. Our gridsters were so inspiring that Gil Dean, publicity man, and Wesley Olson were carried away and started making like All-Americans tossing the pigskin around.

Well, we promised to keep football out of this column for today, so we'll switch back to soccer. First we were introduced to the head master of the orange-clad tribe, Jerry Kenney. A very likeable guy, Kenney has captured the admiration of his happy-go-lucky crew.

While we were there, one Bill Batchelder gave his fellow shin-kickers a tantalizing workout. This was followed by a rugged scrimmage in preparation for next Wednesday's clash with City College.

Looking impressive in this exhibition were Batchelder, Ernie Feibusch, Bob Cannon, Tom Collins, Pete Dalton and huge Tony Fernandez.

We marveled at the way the boys worked out in a jovial, care-free way. These lads were freezing in their orange scanties, yet they enjoyed the two hour proceedings immensely. Aware of our perplexed state of mind, Coach Kenney explained that the boys actually loved the workout. Indeed, this is spirit at its highest. It will be a hustling and confident outfit that meets CCSF next week.

Dying from hunger and cold, we concluded our brief visit with Kenney's Kickers and hustled off to the warmth of the Excelsior District.

This page was bolstered by three more journalists late last week. The trio includes Vic Giannini, a tall, handsome lad; Edith Austin, a newcomer; and an eager miss by the name of Joan Lowrey. Joan was editor of her high school paper. (Nothing but the best on this page.) Also being added to the roster is Dale Perkins, a competent cartoonist, whose masterpieces will appear as long as finances permit.

To Al Martinez, feature editor, who's having a rough time recruiting feature writers, we say, "Too bad, kid, your page just hasn't got that drawing power." All kidding aside, Al does a terrific job along with his cohort, Art Duffy, considering the fact that they do all the writing themselves. It seems that the Sports Review has a little competition this time.

Laurels this week go to Toni Robinson for her unselfish efforts toward beating the drums for good old State. She has devoted much of her time doing "little big things" for Gaterland, such as phoning in scores, designing the float and giving this page a scoop now and then. For example, she let us in on last night's chit chat with Coach Dick Boyle and Broadcaster Ira Blue. Thanks a lot, Toni. Too bad State hasn't more spirited rooters as Miss Robinson.

LATE SPORT BULLETINS...

Dean David J. Cox announced today the appointment of Maestro Funke of the well known Funke Fencing Academy as State's new fencing coach. A swimming coach will be named early next week.

Bob Callan of the Block S announces that a rally will be held next Thursday night at the New Campus for State's first home game against Southern Oregon Friday night. The football and soccer players will be introduced and classy entertainment will follow.

Ward Carr, South Carolinian, Gentleman, Discusses State

By VIC GIANNINI

A friendly smile, a face full of freckles and a southern drawl that would make a Kentucky colonel envious, and you know that you have just bumped into San Francisco State's latest addition of the Men's P. E. Department—Mr. Ward Carr.

Born in Hartsville, South Carolina, home of such athletic greats as Buck Newsome, major league pitcher and Pee Wee Reese, Brooklyn Dodger second baseman, Coach Carr attended Hartsville High School, where his athletic ambitions were first aroused.

Arnold College, in New Haven, Conn., was "Colonel Carr's next stop. He established himself as an outstanding athlete by acquiring an astounding total of fourteen letters earned in football, baseball, track, tennis and boxing.

Upon graduation he remained at Arnold College for three years, where he coached the football, tennis, golf, baseball and boxing teams. Evidence of his coaching genius was the capturing of the New England Conference football crown.

From Arnold he acquired the position of head tennis coach at Columbia University.

San Francisco State, with an eye focused for coaching talent, put its fingers into the bowl and brought to the Gater campus a small package of perpetual motion in the person of Coach Ward Carr.

Asked what he thought of San Francisco State in regard to comparing its teams to those he's so familiar with in the East, Coach Carr stated:

"State has a good opportunity regarding other schools, which I'm unfamiliar, as being recognized in its field of athletics."

"State's tennis and basketball teams rate very high; also, their baseball team rates a par with schools in the East of their size and a bit higher. In the field of track, football and wrestling, on a par. In another year, boxing here at State will be on a par with colleges such as San Jose State, Gonzaga, Idaho and Wisconsin."

At State for only a year, Coach Carr already proven to all, faculty and students alike, that he "knows the score." Coaching boxing, golf and J.V. football, his accomplishments have already initiated a very impressive record to offer. Last year's golf team won the Far Western Conference; while two boxers won berths on the Far Western Conference, one even winning the Idaho Inter-Mountain championship.

With football fever hitting everyone, we could hardly wait to ask Coach Carr his views of State's coming gridiron season.

"Only having one year's experience in State's background," drawled Coach Carr, "I think Coach Boyle should have a successful year. His wins and losses should balance in comparison to last year's team. He has an exceptional group of backfield material that should do quite well with his two deep plus his reserves. The line, with the returning veterans, will be Boyle's big answer to a successful season."

JV's Clash With Platoon System To Greet Gaters

By JOE FINNIGAN

Coach Ward Carr welcomed aspirants for berths on the Jayvee football squad at the New Campus last week. Carr said that he expects to pick a group of 36 from those eligible.

The Baby Gaters have planned a heavy schedule for the coming season. Opponents include the freshman teams from St. Mary's, Stanford and San Jose State. The list of teams to be encountered is the most impressive ever faced by State athletes. Whether the yearlings are ready for such an array of talent remains to be seen, but according to Carr his boys will be in good shape offensively and defensively for whatever might come their way. The club opens their season against Napa J. C. tonight at the jayvee home field. Carr said that the contest will be broadcast.

Last year's Jayvees under Coach Bill Harkness had a successful season, but most of the members of that contingent have gone up to the varsity. Coach Carr will have to labor without the services of linemen Jack Clark, Tom Finnigan, Augie Marino and Owen Kashevaroff, the latter now doing yeoman work for Coach Dick Boyle. Missing from the backfield, after what seemed to be ten seasons of participation, will be Sal "Slasher" Solina.

'Mural Program Opens Next Week With Football

By FRED HODEL

Intramurals will start off with a bang next week as men begin training for boxing, wrestling and intramural football. Games will be played on the upper and lower fields. Intramural boxing and wrestling will soon get underway.

All intramural boxers are urged to report to Dan Martin in the Men's Training Quarters to schedule training workouts on Mondays, Wednesdays or Fridays, 12-1.

Boxing finals are scheduled for November 3 in the Boxing Gym, with the semi-finals the week before and the preliminaries starting on Tuesday, October 25.

Wrestlers may sign up immediately in Training Quarters. Preliminary bouts are scheduled to begin on Thursday, October 13. Semi-finals will be on October 18 and finals on October 20. Wrestlers may report to Russ Messeroll for training and workouts if desired.

Badminton, tennis, table tennis, basketball, free throw contest and cross-country run entires are now being signed up.

Soccer Team Set For Opener

By JOHN KJOL

San Francisco State opens its soccer season against its cross-town rivals, City College, next Wednesday. The contest is scheduled for the new campus.

Coach Jerry Kenney's spirited shin-kickers will be out to capture the conference opener in their quest for the championship crown.

The team has been rounding into excellent shape under the watchful eye of Kenney and through the

The strength of Coach Dick Boyle's brand of "T" gets its acid test at Whittier tomorrow night at 8, when State's 1949 gridiron assemblage goes on full-dress display in its season opener against the proud Quakers from Whittier.

It behooves the Gaters to be at a high pitch for "Chief" Newman's Poets, who will be out to atone for last season's stunning 18-7 upset at the hands of the spunky locals.

Despite the favorable outcome of last year's clash, the untested Gaters must again assume the underdog role against their southland tormentors, who go into the contest fresh from a 20-6 spanking of Santa Barbara College, accomplished last Friday night.

State's chief hope of victory lies in its wealth of backfield material, which can generate plenty of power of the underrun forward wall is able to pull the switch often enough.

Boyle announced that he will meet the initial charge of the enemy with the following lineup:

Ends, Don Chabot and Elmer Gallegos; tackles, Dick Peters and Cliff Grey; guards, Fred Van Dyke and "Doc" Mattison; center, Morry Koch; fullback, Hal Williams; halfbacks, Jack Caruso and Bob Keropian; and quarterback, Sam De Vito, who will run the team from the T formation.

Although State's win over Whittier last season was generally rated as a fluke, history may well repeat itself if the Gaters can come close to realizing their full potential tomorrow night.

Almost all of the participants in that upset win are back in harness, along with such sparkling new additions as De Vito, Van Dyke, Koch, Jim Hughes and Joe Washington.

Coach Newman of the Poets, a two-ocean navy advocate, will employ different units offensively and defensively, with triple threat fullback, Herman Reed and Tailback "Bucky" Harris sparking the goalward rushes.

and finals on October 20. Wrestlers may report to Russ Messeroll for training and workouts if desired.

Badminton, tennis, table tennis, basketball, free throw contest and cross-country run entires are now being signed up.

State Coed Wins Award, Teaching Scholarship

Harriet Detling Lukrich, State sophomore and education major, received notice this week that she was awarded a scholarship by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The award pays $300 per year, with privilege of renewal each year for a period of 4½ years.

The scholarship was one of 39 presented to other students in the State of California. Mrs. Lukrich won out over all other entrants from San Francisco.

In return for this award, paid at the rate of $150 each semester, students must agree to teach one year for every $300 received. The three-fold purpose behind this plan is:

1. To recruit outstanding teachers;
2. To train better teachers by relieving students of financial worry, and
3. To raise the prestige of the teaching profession in the eyes of students and the public by investing a large fund in this plan.

Since the plan was first inaugurated in 1945, $145,000 has been invested and 246 teachers recruited.

Mrs. Lukrich's application, submitted last March, was one of 365 received in this year's fifth annual contest.

College Theatre Productions Ready

To start off a full schedule of drama activity, the College Theatre will present the first workshop production of three one-act plays next Friday and Saturday nights in the Frederic Burk Auditorium.

"Larkspur Lotion," by Tennessee Williams, will be directed by Mr. Jules Irving; Mr. Clarence Miller will direct Eugene O'Neill's "in the Zone"; and Mr. J. Fenton McKenna and Tom Klunis, student assistant, will direct Joseph E. Niggli's "Tooth or Shave."

Forthcoming plans for the year include four major productions and four or more Workshop productions. "Inspector General," by Gogol, will be the first major showing, with Mr. Richard Glycer directing. The play is scheduled for October 27, 28, 29, and November 3, 4 and 5. The second major play, "The Hasty Heart," will be directed by Mr. Jules Irving, and will be presented on the nights of December 3, 4 and 5.

Plans have been made for the performance of one arena style play, in which the actors and stage will occupy the center of the auditorium. One or two formal readings will also be given. For the benefit of the humanities classes, the College Players will produce a Greek play, Medieval play, and Commedia del Arte.

Future Workshop plans will be announced later in the year.

MANY JOBS AVAILABLE AT PLACEMENT OFFICE

There are many good jobs listed at the College Placement Office being wasted, according to Mrs. Alma Downey, director of State's Placement Bureau.

For instance, a man is needed as trampoline instructor for a nearby boys' club; another for driving. "Doesn't anybody like to drive?"

For only four to five hours of light housework, a woman can get a private room and kitchen privileges.

There are various other jobs available. Suitable candidates may check the Placement bulletin board at Room 114, College Hall.

Enrollment Reaches 4178

Enrollment figures have reached the unprecedented number of 4178 students, according to Ruth Tracksell, assistant in the Registrar's office. Of these 1224 are veterans and 380 are re-entrants.

The exact number will not be known until the November census of classes is taken.

CLUB NEWS

KAPPA OMEGA—Social service fraternity, held its second Fall meeting at the home of Herb Osuna where plans were completed for the term's activities. President Graham Knox appointed vice-president Sal Solina to take charge of social activities, Bob Anderson as fraternity athletic representative, and Herb Osuna as the man responsible for pledge activities.

Individuals desiring to know the aims and purposes of Kappa Omega can inquire in the office of the Associated Students, where a copy of the frat's constitution is on file. The organization intends to promote the so-called "minor sports."

NEWMAN CLUB—Catholic group, opened its activities for the semester with an open house at the Siena House last Tuesday. According to Jack Shelley, president, the attendance is better and more promising than in previous years. First regular meeting will take place at the Siena House on Wednesday at 8 p.m. Students interested to join should attend at that time, Healy said.

BLOCK 'S' SOCIETY—President Charlie White announced that the lettermen's semi-annual picnic will be held Sunday. Block "S" members and their friends are invited. Place of the picnic has not yet been definitely named.

PHI LAMBDA CHI—Expresses its thanks to the student body for its co-operation in making the "Shipwreck Shag" affair a success. Plans are now being made for the sorority's Fall pledging.

ALPHA CHI EPSILON—Carol Hodges' home was the site of Alpha Chi Epsilon's tea party for prospective members given last Sunday. Any student interested in joining the educational sorority is welcome to attend a dinner on October 8. Contact may be made through P. O. Box 104, "Bunny" Bryant, president, said.
